Stefan V. "Steve" Stein
Holland and Knight, Partner

Join us for a fascinating seminar that will provide you with proven business strategies for turning innovations into a successful business model, an understanding of how intellectual property protection is key to monetizing your innovations, and the nuts and bolts of a successful IP strategy that includes much more than patent applications.

You'll hear from investors who'll tell why and how protected IP increases your access to capital, get advice on what to look for in an attorney, and learn how to manage the costs. Our speakers will also address the ins and outs of the patent process, domestically and internationally.

Whether or not you've already obtained a patent on your innovation, have a patent pending, or are considering submitting a patent application, if you're serious about innovation, you'll benefit from attending this event.

We look forward to seeing you there!
