

St. Pete Times

February 25, 2008

News of the business week to come

LOOKING FOR HIGH-TECH GRADS? Then you may want to register for the Career Expo '08 Thursday and Friday in Tampa. The Florida High Tech Corridor Council is bringing career center directors from top national universities to the region to talk to local companies about jobs available in the 23-county corridor, which includes Gainesville, Orlando and Tampa. This year, 75 universities including Princeton, Purdue, MIT, Cornell and Notre Dame, and UCF, USF and UF are confirmed to attend. Find out more at www.FloridaHighTech.com/CareerExpo.